

Abstract

In this talk, I will go through the slides presented by Dario Autiero at CERN to review the latest results from the OPERA experiment on the neutrino velocity. Since I am not an expert in such experiments, the presentation will follow a journal club approach. Feel free to come and make comments to make it more understandab